

091505T4NUT

NUTRITION AND DIETETICS LEVEL 5

MED/OS/NUD/CR/03/5

Provide Maternal and Child Nutrition Care

November/December 2025

SECTION A (40 MARKS)

Attempt ALL the questions in this section.

1. Define the following terminologies as used in the provision of maternal and child care;
 - a. Pre-natal care (1 Mark)
 - b. Conception (1 Mark)
 - c. Macrosomia (1 Mark)
 - d. Pica (1 Mark)
2. List FOUR Personal Protective Equipment that one should don when attending to neonates in newborn unit. (4 Marks)
3. Adequate weight gain during pregnancy is vital for both maternal health and fetal development. State FOUR consequences of inadequate maternal weight gain during pregnancy. (4 Marks)
4. Vitamin A supplementation in pregnancy should only be on the advice of a registered nutritionist. List FOUR birth defects that are associated with intake of high doses of the vitamin. (4 Marks)
5. Exclusive breastfeeding is recommended for the first six months of an infant's life. State FOUR importance of breastfeeding to a family. (4 Marks)
6. Preterm infants need frequent assessments to monitor their progress. Mention FOUR clinical characteristics of preterm infants. (4 Marks)
7. Complementary feeding helps a child to achieve the recommended dietary requirements. State FOUR signs of an infant's readiness for solid foods. (4 Marks)
8. Women need to attend antenatal clinics for monitoring and management of pregnancy related complications. Mention FOUR pregnancy related complications that can negatively affect maternal nutrition. (4 Marks)
9. During maternal, infant, and child health care, the Ministry of Medical Services uses various data collection and reporting tools. State FOUR registers commonly used for capturing this data. (4 Marks)

10. The maternal and Child booklet is a hand book containing information on maternal and child health. Mention FOUR components of maternal & child health found in this booklet. (4 Marks)

SECTION B (60 MARKS)

Attempt Any THREE Questions in This Section

11. You are attending to a postnatal mother who has delivered a healthy baby boy 6 hours ago. The mother appears anxious and expresses uncertainty about breastfeeding as she is a first-time mother.
- a. Describe FIVE benefits of colostrum for the baby to the mother. (10 Marks)
 - b. Explain FIVE breastfeeding practices that you would educate the mother on as recommended by World Health Organization (WHO). (10 Marks)
12. You are working in a maternal and child health clinic. During a growth monitoring session, you assess a 10-month-old infant who is underweight for age and whose mother reports difficulty in breastfeeding and frequent illness.
- a. Outline FOUR referral needs for this infant and mother according to World Health Organization guidelines. (8 Marks)
 - b. Explain THREE workplace policy considerations you would follow when referring this case. (6 Marks)
 - c. Describe THREE ways you would communicate effectively with the mother to ensure she understands and accepts the referral. (6 Marks)
13. During a routine maternal and child health clinic visit, you are tasked with monitoring the nutrition status of a breastfeeding mother and her 8-month-old infant.
- a. Discuss FOUR indicators you would assess to monitor the nutritional status of the infant. (8 Marks)
 - b. Explain SIX reasons why routine monitoring of maternal and child nutrition is important in primary health care. (12 Marks)
14. As a nutritionist doing rounds in the maternity ward, you are assigned to a mother who just delivered a preterm child.
- a. Discuss FOUR classifications of preterm babies based on age. (8 Marks)
 - b. Describe FOUR feeding reflexes that you would be monitoring in readiness to breastfeeding the child. (8 Marks)
 - c. State TWO differences between complementary and mixed feeding to the mother. (4 Marks)

